

Certified exchange trader Eurex

Trading on Eurex is subject to special admission and requires sound knowledge and understanding of the essential characteristics of derivatives. Traders in derivatives markets must not only master various strategies, but are also required to be familiar with the Eurex market model and trading rules. In cooperation with the Capital Market Academy of Deutsche Börse, we offer the possibility to acquire the professional qualification "Certified exchange trader Eurex". Only certificate holders are allowed to become professional derivatives traders at the Eurex.

Requirements

1. Need to have passed the exams in Kapitalmarkttheorie and Capital Market Theory II: Derivatives
2. At the examination date, the completion of the exam in Capital Market Theory II: Derivatives must not have been more than 6 months ago

Benefits

1. Save around 3000 € for the workshop
2. Show knowledge about derivatives to potential employers
3. This exam is proof of specialist know-how and is valid for up to two years
4. Certificate necessary to become a Eurex trader

Exam Preparation

1. The exam takes place once per year
2. At least 5 students need to participate
3. The participation in the exam costs 238 € and only then you will receive the certificate
4. You will receive a handbook that contains all the relevant information for the exam
5. Get one third of the questions before the exam
6. Submission of the signed and filled-out forms to the Institute of Finance and Commodity Markets until 13th of March

Exam Procedure

1. In the ITS-Pool of the university (with identification check)
2. Either German or English
3. Answer 125 questions of multiple topics (True/False, MC, SC) in 3 hours
4. Questions are randomly selected from a pool
5. You passed the exam, if you reached at least 75% of the possible points
6. You can only use writing utensils and a non-programmable calculator
7. Paper will be provided, you have to submit everything after you completed the exam

Further Information

1. You may postpone the examination free of charge only once, provided that you have notified the Capital Markets Academy of this in written form up to one week before the examination date and at the same time have selected an other examination date offered by the Capital Markets Academy
2. If you cannot participate in the exam, you need to write a rescission notice before the exam takes place in order to prevent being deemed to have failed the exam
3. If you cannot participate due to an illness, you need to immediately notify the Deutsche Börse AG and submit a medical certificate within three days
4. Not showing up on the day of the exam or failing to meet one of the above mentioned reasons, implies that you can apply for another examination date, but requires you to pay the examination fee again (238 €)
5. After the start of the examination, withdrawal is only permitted for good cause. The examination board decides on the validity of such a reason.
6. If you failed the exam, you can repeat it only up to two times
7. For more information visit the following website: Deutsche Börse